

Friends of Camp St. Augustine Chapel Meeting House Events Series 2010

Reptiles Rock

Friday, October 22, 7:00 p.m. Chapel Meeting House
Admission Free

Rainforest Reptile Shows unique programming engages children of all ages at a hands-on level. Experience direct contact with a mini zoo full of reptiles, large and small, and hear fascinating stories about the animals and their natural habitats. This one hour program will be fun, dynamic, and educational. Everyone will have the opportunity to handle the snake and alligator after the program!

Dragonflies and Damselies

Saturday, June 26th, 10 a.m.-2 p.m., Chapel Meeting House

Admission: $15 members, seniors, students/$18 non-members/$10 lecture only

As summer approaches, Dragonflies and Damselies will once again capture our attention with their amazing array of colors and patterns. Christopher Leahy, the Gerard A. Bertrand Chair of Natural History and Field Ornithology at Massachusetts Audubon Society will teach us how to spot the difference between these two fascinating insects, where to find them, what they eat, and what dangers they face.

Odaiko New England Drums

Saturday, September 25th, 7p.m., CRRA,

Admission: $8 members, students, seniors / $10 non-members/$5 children under 12

Odaiko New England weaves the traditional elements of taiko (drumming) with contemporary influences to create a constantly evolving and dynamic art form. By offering this performance at the edge of the forest at Cocasset River Recreation Area, we hope our audience will be transported by the archetypal sound of the drums. The rhythm of this ancient art echoes for us the rhythms of nature and the transformations of the seasons.

Bette Midler Tribute with Lisa Yves

Saturday, November 6th, 7:30p.m, Chapel Meeting House

Admission $15 members, students, seniors/$18 non-member

Lisa Yves, an award winning vocalist, pianist, and musician interprets the songs: Wind Beneath My Wings, Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy, When a Man Needs a Woman, The Rose, and more! Lisa has performed on the "Today Show," at Boston Symphony Hall, and with Harry Connick Jr. Now see Lisa in person as she pays tribute in song and word to that versatile brash belter, The Divine Miss M, in a dazzling live musical performance!
